Yesterday Mrs. Alberta Craven fell down stairs at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Luman, in East Third, and was quite badly bruised about the body. She was holding in her hand a birdcage and it tilted and was about to fall and in her endeavor to save the bird and cage she fell from top to bottom of steps. It was first thought she was seriously hurt, but the physician assured the family she had only sustained bruises.

An exciting game of ball is expected this afternoon at the East End Park. The Winchester boys will have a round with the Locals, and as both teams are very good, the game promises to be close. Yarnall will twirl for Maysville, while Leuth, the Ohio wonder, will do the slab work for the visitors. As this will be one of the last games of the season, a large crowd should turn out in order that it may encourage the boys for a good team next season. All ladies will be admitted free, as their presence is greatly desired by the boys.

MURPHY, the Jeweler.

Elsewhere is the announcement of Mr. W. W. McIlvain as a candidate for the office of Jailer, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary in November. Mr. McIlvain has held this responsible office for several years past and has made one of the best officials the county has ever had. He is not only a true and tried Democrat, but a popular fellow as well, and if the Democrats would add strength to their county ticket they could do so in no better way than giving Mr. McIlvain the nomination for the office he seeks.

Personal Reply to Inquiry of B. B. Markwell, Fleming Merchant

On August 24th last a fine young son was born to Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Markwell of Beechburg, Fleming county, who was given the name of Quentin, after President Roosevelt's young son.

Wishing to know whence the name originated, Mr. Markwell addressed a personal inquiry to the President and is just in receipt of the following reply—

WHITE HOUSE, WASHINGTON.
OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 17, 1904.
My Dear Mr. Markwell: Quentin is but six, and writing is not his forte, at least as regards extensive correspondence; but I send you his and my regards to young Quentin Markwell. The name is from Quentin's great-grand father, a French Huguenot. Sincerely yours,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

COLONEL DAVID G. COLSON

Survivor of Famous Pistol Fight is Dead—Killed Four Men and Was Acquitted

Hon. David G. Colson died at his home in Middlesboro Tuesday night as the result of a nervous collapse.

Mr. Colson has been for years one of the foremost men of the mountains, and has represented his District in Congress.

He was Colonel of the mountain regiment in the Spanish War, and during that service became involved with Ethelbert Scott in the trouble which led to the famous fight between him and Scott in the Capital Hotel in Frankfort, in which Scott and three others were killed by Colson.

The details of the shooting are still fresh in the minds of the people of Kentucky. Colonel Colson was sitting in a chair leaning against the wall of the hotel lobby when Scott approached him and began firing.

Colson returned the fire and as Scott dodged behind Postmaster Demaree, of Shelbyville, Colson fired, killing Demaree. Stray bullets also struck John Golden and Mr. Violet, the latter dying from loss of blood.

Colson filled Scott full of bullets and as he ran down the steps to the basement of the hotel shot him through the head.

He was acquitted for the killing.
